The first picture book by painter Suji Yoo, known for her sensorial perspective

As readers follow a journey of picking up stars and sharing them along the way, they come to feel the quiet power of seeing one another and listening with care. Through moments of becoming small and large, crossing storms, and returning home, the story gently reveals how we are all connected. By sharing their own stars little by little, the characters ultimately form one round, united heart.

저처럼 새가 한번이 몸을 내준다. 나는 그 위에 올라 꼭꼭우 너미로 간다.

벌 기루를 살면서 물어 준다.
나는 벌만큼 작아져
친구들과 눈을 맞추고
이야기에 귀를 기울인다.

별을 조금 우리 동네 위에 뿌린다.
나는 하늘만큼 높아져 별들을 고무 퍼뜨린다.

A Summer of Discovery Painted with the Brushstrokes of East Asian Art

Summer Cat is a picture book about a stray cat who gradually opens its heart through a series of small experiences. To the cat, summer is a hot and uncomfortable season to avoid. But after meeting a child and journeying to the sea, it encounters unfamiliar sights, scents, puddles, and fish, discovering summer in a new way. The story gently shows how learning to love something often begins with small, unexpected moments. Accompanied by illustrations inspired by traditional East Asian ink painting, the book beautifully captures the atmosphere of summer and invites readers to see the world with fresh eyes.

A Forsythia Story Blossomed from the Hands of a Botanical Artist

This picture book follows the four-season life cycle of forsythia, a plant species endemic to Korea. It gently portrays not only the brilliant moment when the flowers burst into bloom, but also the quieter times when leaves unfurl, fruits form, and the plant prepares for winter. Featuring the diverse plants and animals that live alongside forsythia, the book highlights the interconnectedness of all living things. Through its pages, readers are invited to appreciate not only the eye-catching moments, but also the quiet, continuous flow of time that makes every stage of life meaningful.
